

CHRISTINA HUTTON

At Ada Drive Railroad
Underpass and Bridge

Growing up in Grand Rapids, MI, I spent a lot of time outside playing and wandering around the woods. My painting tends to take on a childlike wonder through the exploration of Michigan's wildlife. I always find myself curious about the history of places and the creatures that live there. The natural world tends to take over my paintbrush and I dive into a colorful world full of native, threatened, and endangered species.

My murals provide a moment of happiness and community. I paint to bring smiles to faces and allow the noise of life to subside for just a moment.

Follow more of Christina's work at <https://tenfingerfish.com>, @tenfingerfishstudio on Instagram, and Ten Finger Fish Studio on Facebook.

CHRISTINA HUTTON

Ada Drive Railroad Underpass Mural

+

Follow more of Christina's work at <https://tenfingerfish.com>, @tenfingerfishstudio on Instagram, and Ten Finger Fish Studio on Facebook.

FINAL DESIGNS TO BE PAINTED

DAVE BATTJES

At Thornapple River Drive
Railroad Bridge

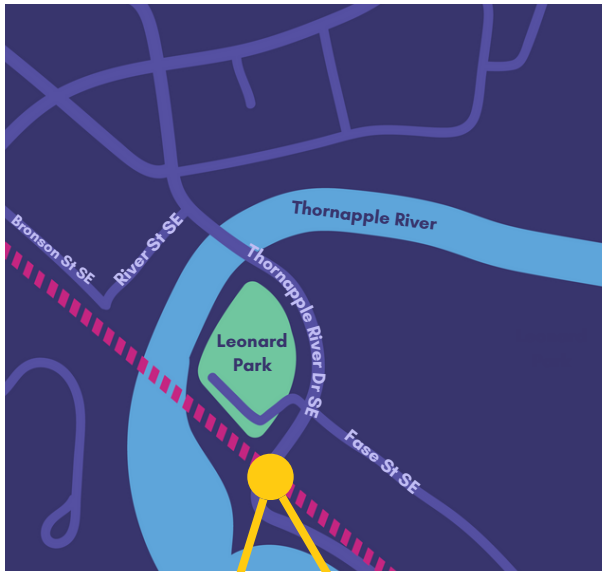

Hi, I'm Dave. I love painting big letters on crusty outdoor walls, playing with my hyperactive dogs, and scrolling endlessly through art and design on Dribbble and Pinterest. Letterforms are my go-to whenever I pick up a pencil and paper. I started playing with letters back in 2012 and found a medium I wanted to stick with.

This mural is an expression of our wonderment of the natural world. If we slow down, we can see the natural world unfolding in our backyards or finding its way into our concrete jungles. Art will always invoke an opinion and those opinions spark conversations. This mural is meant to spark conversations of positivity and pride in place.

Follow more of Dave's work on davebattjes.com and @davebattjes on Instagram.

DAVE BATTJES

Thornapple Rv Dr Railroad Bridge Mural

+

Follow more of Dave's work on davebattjes.com and @davebattjes on Instagram.

FINAL DESIGNS TO BE PAINTED

